

Formal Dedication and Naming of the Courts

May 20, 2005 11:15 am

The balloons were waving and the courts were in use by some of the top youth from Biola's NJTL as well as Southern California's newest wheelchair star, Isaias Uguarte. As the distinguished guests arrived at the courts, they were greeted by members of the 2005 women's tennis team.

Biola's President Cook welcomed to the Board of Trustees at Biola and introduced the newest member of the board, Michael Chang. Michael shared his enthusiasm for the Biola tennis program and his interest in seeing Biola's intercollegiate program expand to include a men's team.

Coach Dee Henry and her player, Brie Meister, expressed their gratitude for those who had given to the phase of the project which enables Biola to host collegiate matches on campus.

Special recognition to Bob and Audrey Thompson, Joseph and Charlotte Pawlowski, Horace and Dot Felkins, and The Ludwick Family Foundation were given by unveiling plaques in their honor. The plaques acknowledged their support for students who have served in the Biola Tennis programs.

Following the prayer of dedication and naming the courts ceremony, lunch was served to individuals and representatives from the foundation and organizations who made major contributions to this phase of the project.
